PROTECT TREES, FORESTS AND OUR COMMUNITY FROM THE THREAT OF INVASIVE SPECIES

New infestations of insects and diseases can start if you take firewood with you when you travel.

Keep your trees safe by following these tips:

- Don't take firewood with you when you go camping, hiking or traveling.
- Buy locally harvested firewood.
- Tell your friends not to move firewood.

The logo for DontMoveFirewood.org. It features the text "DONTMOVE" in orange and "FIREWOOD" in dark brown, with ".org" in orange. A stylized tree with a brown trunk and green leaves is positioned above the word "MOVE".
